

Podcast on Seismic Risk Management

Q-con's recently published showcase on managing induced seismicity risks at a geothermal site in The Netherlands (paper) has attracted considerable attention. The paper addresses some of the most debated issues related to induced seismicity risks.

Q-con scientist Dr. Robert Vörös was invited to explain the study and its societal relevance to a general audience. The resulting podcast can be found here.